

Editors' Picks: 19 Things Not to Miss in New York's Art World This Week

Sarah Cascone

July 15, 2019

Rose Kallil, Polyphase Transmission, 2019. Courtesy of the artist and Lyles & King, New York.

3. “Rose Kallal: Polyphase Transmission” at Lyles and King

In her second solo exhibition with Lyles and King, Rose Kallal presents a four-channel video and sound installation that calls back to pioneering early works in computer-generated imagery and electronic-audio composition. Driving the piece is Kallal's interest in the mesmeric possibilities of interference, as the various visual and aural elements expand and collapse onto one another to allude to the elastic nature of time, technology, and art history—each one stretching from a romanticized past toward an unknown future.

Location: Lyles and King, 106 Forsyth Street

Price: Free

Time: Opening reception, 6 p.m.–8 p.m.; Tuesday–Friday, 11 a.m.–6 p.m.; Saturday, noon–6 p.m.

—Tim Schneider